

File/The State Journal-Register

"The World Needs God" sign is now on a church in Hillsboro.

Foundation being undermined

Dear Editor,

This is in regard to The State Journal-Register front page article on Sept. 7, "Courthouse controversy." It related the forced removal of the Ten Commandments monument from the Montgomery, Ala., courthouse and the "The World Needs God" sign from the Hillsboro courthouse.

I would like to pose a question to your readers. I believe the time is quickly approaching when the American Civil Liberties Union, atheists and anti-Christians will have their way. A time when all mention of Jesus Christ and the Bible will be erased from our government.

In the guise of tolerance and political correctness the foundation and cornerstone of all our freedom is being rejected by the undermining of a few. Make no mistake; it is more than just the symbols of our freedom that will be lost.

Will America then be a better place to live?

Robert J. Rani
Rochester